The CZECH REPUBLIC

An Experience You Will Not Forget

Foto: Jan Maly

Are you tired after attending your congress or conference for the whole day and need to relax a little? We have chosen for you a couple of top Czech artists you probably have heard about but have not seen yet. While they perform on famous stages all over the world, they regularly come home to please the local audience too - and here comes your chance to immerse yourself in the world of music, dance, theatre, or whatever your preference may be. So to give you some hints on what to do after a busy working day while in the Czech Republic, this brochure offers brief profiles of some of the best performers the country has.

Your MICE Destination You Will Love

Beautiful and small, so that you can see most of it. Easily accessible, so no need to worry about how to get there and back home. Historical, but not old-fashioned or outdated. And safe, in fact one of the safest places on Earth. That is the Czech Republic, the MICE destination you will certainly love.

Beautiful and small

The Czech Republic may be small, but there is a lot to see. It has a wealth of valuable heritage sites, twelve of them included in the UNESCO World Heritage List. Given its size, the Czech Republic actually has the largest number of UNESCO monuments per square kilometer in the world. And the Czech capital Prague is truly a gem that must be seen.

Easily accessible

Located in the heart of Europe, the Czech Republic is the ideal country for all kind of international meetings. Its main international airport, the Prague's Václav Havel Airport, serves some eleven million passengers annually, with 52 airlines offering direct flights to about 120 destinations all over the world. And the Czech railway network is one of the most dense in Europe, with train service running from most points of the continent.

Historical, yet modern

Only a few places on Earth can offer such an untouched wealth of culture and history alongside sophisticated global businesses, modern convention centres and congress halls, cutting edge technological infrastructure, style and comfort.

You don't have to worry. The Czech Republic is a safe destination, and safety is extremely important in today's world. Both large international event attendees and ordinary tourists arrive in the country every day to enjoy a pleasant, safe stay.

Combine all that with the fact that you will get very good value for your money, because the selection of quality venues, accommodation and programs comes at a reasonable and competitive prices, and what do you get? MICE destination you have to love!

Jiří Bělohlávek conductor

He started to sing at a children's choir already at the age of four and soon began learning piano too. Later he studied cello at the Prague's Academy of Music and quickly progressed to conducting. In 1968, the legendary Romanian conductor Sergiu Celibidache invited him to become his assistant and no wonder that after two superb years with him, Bělohlávek won the Czech Young Conductors' Competition in 1970 and reached the final of the Herbert von Karajan Conducting Competition in 1971.

Since 1973, Bělohlávek has been regularly conducting the Czech Philharmonic and in 1990 he was appointed the orchestra's Chief Conductor. In 1995, he became the Principal Guest Conductor of the BBC Symphony Orchestra and in 2006 was appointed its Chief Conductor. He conducted the orchestra at the Last Night of the Proms in 2007, becoming the first artist from a non-English speaking country to undertake this important role. He performed at the Last Night of the Proms again in 2010 and 2012. In 2012, the British Queen awarded him The Commander of the British Empire. The same year Bělohlávek returned home to again assume the post of the Chief Conductor of the Czech Philharmonic.

Jiří Bělohlávek has also worked in the world of opera throughout his career, with regular appearances at the world's main opera houses including Berlin, Covent Garden, Glyndebourne, the Metropolitan Opera in New York, Opéra Bastille and Teatro Real.

Adam Plachetka

bass-baritone

His dream as a little boy was to play ice hockey as good as Jaromír Jágr. We don't know how good he would have become if he had stuck to his dream, but as a singer he is definitely one of the best. The famous Czech bass-baritone Adam Plachetka made his debut at the National Theatre in Prague in 2005, and only five years later, at the age of 25, he became a member of the ensemble of the Wiener Staatsoper. After his debut as Schaunard in La bohème, he moved on to roles such as Don Basilio, Melisso in George Frideric Handel's Alcina, Masetto and Don Giovanni in Don Giovanni, Dulcamara in L'elisir d'amore, Figaro, Guglielmo, Publio in La clemenza di Tito, Mustafá in L'Italiana in Algeri and Alidoro in La Cenerentola.

Adam Plachetka's engagements also include appearances at the Salzburger Festspiele, Seoul Arts Center, Opéra de Nice, Bayerische Staatsoper Munich, the Prague Spring festival, Théâtre Royal de la Monnaie in Bruxelles, Royal Opera House Covent Garden in London, Musikverein in Vienna, Festpielhaus Baden-Baden, Opéra Comédie Montpellier, Glyndebourne Festival, Deutsche Oper and Deutsche Staatsoper Berlin and at the Teatro alla Scala in Milan.

In February 2015, Plachetka made his debut at the Metropolitan Opera in New York where he made several appearances as Masetto in Don Giovanni and will return there next season as Belcore in L'elisir d'amore.

usual and unusual

The Czech Republic offers all kinds of meeting facilities, from small intimate boutique style meeting rooms and hotels to large meeting venues and conference halls. The list of venues suitable for holding congresses and conferences includes several with room big enough for more than 5,000 people.

But the country also offers much more.

Have you ever attended a conference held in an old sewage treatment plant? Or a tram depot? What about an event organized in a tropical greenhouse?

And there are many more unique venues in the Czech Republic that will surprise you with their originality. A beautiful deconsecrated church, mansions, chateaus and castles, museums and even golf courses with conference facilities...all of them are equipped with modern technology and all of them are easily accessible. Come and see for yourselves: you name it, the country has it.

But it is not only a conference you can hold at a castle. Many of the country's castles offer perfect settings for a wedding. The castles of Hluboká nad Vltavou, Český Krumlov, Červená Lhota or Jindřichův Hradec belong to the most romantic of them.

- Chroma key technology – we are able to “cut” the image of a speaker and place it on a screen, together with other image layers on the background.
- Video mapping – we can give life to a room, a building, a car or just a flow of water... and visualize their story.
- Interactivity – we give you the opportunity to interact with conference participants via voting. This can also be done on smartphones and tablets.

FOR MOTIV PRAGUE SECOND BEST IS NOT AN OPTION

Les Ballets Bubeníček two of the world's best dancers

Jiří and Otto Bubeníček, twins who spent most of their childhood traveling around Europe with a circus, where their parents worked as acrobats, started their ballet careers together. First they joined together the Prague Dance Conservatory then they joined together the Hamburg Ballet - John Neumeier, where within a short space of time, they both stood out in their respective parts and were soon appointed principal dancers. They danced many solo roles in John Neumeier's ballets and they caused a sensation, for example, when they danced the double part of King Ludwig II of Bavaria and his Shadow in "Illusions - like Swan Lake".

While Otto stayed in Hamburg, Jiří joined the Semperoper Ballet in Dresden, Germany as a principal dancer in 2006.

Apart from being excellent dancers, they both have other skills too: Otto composes music, designs and works in the film industry while Jiří has become one of the most sought after choreographers, and has already received several prizes. His works for the New York City Ballet, Zurich Ballet, Hamburg Ballet, Dresden Semperoper Ballet or the China National Ballet have received the greatest acclaim.

Now the twins have created their own programs as Les Ballets Bubeníček. Jiří does the choreography, Otto is the designer and composer, and of course, both are dancing. For 2015, they have created a brand new program with soloists from Semperoper Ballet, Hamburg Ballet, Royal Swedish Ballet a Royal Danish Ballet as guest dancers.

Image Theatre

black theatre

On a dark stage illuminated by ultraviolet lights, actors dressed in black move various objects around and create the illusion that these objects are moving by themselves. This is the principle behind black theatre. In the Prague Theatre called Image, this principle is used primarily as a support technique - their performance is based on a synthesis of black theatre, modern dance, music and mime all delivered with a sense of humour.

Among the several black theatres in Prague, Image Theatre is undoubtedly one of the most important, and is known all over the world. They present their own creations; everything is original, from the story and choreography to the music, and as the performances have no words, they are understandable by people from all over the globe.

The theatre has prepared special performance called The Best of Image, basically a cross section of their productions and a presentation of the group for those who see them for the first time. It was originally meant for the theatre's tours abroad but now you can see it in Prague too.
